Faith—Great Comforter
Does the Cave Man Live?

Skulls Are Different

"I beg you to recommend me to the Virgin of Pompeii." Having been told that he was dying, Pope Benedict, speaking to Cardinal Sili, thus expressed his hope and faith.

Oxygen and camphor were being administered. Scientists were working over him. His faith was not in the modern miracles of science, but in the old belief. "I beg you to recommend me to the Virgin of Pompeii."
What comfort hundreds of millions have found in simple ancient faith!

Are cave men, dating back fifty thousand years, alive in Africa? Quite probably, says a scientist. From Rhodesian left a skull in South Africa and it's probable that his brothers may still be according to Professor Boule of Paris.

You may say that such creatures, being stupid, would fight the men with guns and be killed. Possibly, but men that go down there to get rhinoceroses, lions, gorillas, they killed a cave man, they would think him an inferior native, and leave his carcass on the ground.

The other cave men would soon learn not to attack white creatures carrying exploding sticks, and, more cunning than lions and rhinoceroses, with better sight and hearing than white men, they would easily keep out of the way.

Perhaps a real scientist, who goes hunting occasionally, could bring back a cave man couple. Nothing on the planet could be more interesting.

Again, what is happiness? In the railroad station, where you get chewing gum by putting a cent in a slot, a short, commonplace, extremely uninteresting individual is forty, earnestly looking at you in the little looking-glass.

He looked at himself reflected and frowned—but, apparently, trying to look like Napoleon. He looked at his left profile and smiled, at his right profile and smiled again. He fixed his red necktie, wiped his fat, short beard and wadded off contented and happy.

POPE BENEDICT IS DEAD

Succumbs to Sudden Attack of Pneumonia

By EDWARD STRUTT, International News Service Staff Correspondent.

Rome, Jan. 21.—Pope Benedict XV. died today. Death was due to pneumonia and heart weakness, complicated with bronchial catarrh and influenza. The Pontiff had been ill only five days. The final attack dated back to last Tuesday, when he contracted a cold.

FEENEY TO CONCLUDE EVIDENCE

Jury in Preston Murder is Expected to Begin Its Deliberation Monday

When the trial of Clarence W. Loud, charged with the murder of Patrolman James A. Preston, was resumed in East Cambridge Superior Court today, the defense was prepared to rest its case shortly. There was a prospect the case might go to the jury late Monday.

Attorney Feeney planned to call three more witnesses. One was Wilbur Turner, recalled to give additional testimony regarding his microscopic examination of Preston's coat.

Another will be Dr. Edwin M. Libby, medical expert, who is expected to rebut the testimony presented by the State's experts. Medical Examiner George B. Magrath of Suffolk County.

Revolvers Drawn in Hungarian Parliament

Berlin, Jan. 21.—(By International News Service.)—Turmoil scenes marked by fist fights and the drawing of revolvers accompanied debate in the Hungarian National Assembly Friday, said a dispatch from Budapest today.

Following an order for the removal of one of their members, adherents of the Legitimist party rushed the benches occupied by Royalists.

The speaker descended from the rostrum and addressed the opposition, declaring that they were behaving like bandits and that he granted a noisy opposition member by the shoulders and shook him.

Members of the Farmers' party seized the speaker and were drawing revolvers when gardeners intervened. The trouble arose over criticism of the vice regent, Admiral Horthy.

TELLS HOW GANG MADE MILLIONS

Bares Innermost Schemes and Plans of Band Who Aimed to Control State

The Boston American today publishes an exclusive interview with Harry Levenson, Boston attorney now facing disbarment, and one of ten persons indicted in connection with the Boston blackgang.

He makes amazing revelations of the gang's activities.

In the interview, Levenson, who is seriously ill, revealed to Harry A. Benson of the Boston American staff the aims and ambitions of the gang, which included practical control of the city.

That the gang "took" from $10,000 to $50,000 a week in blackmail in one hotel, the manager of which was one of the leaders of the band.

That three public officials were members, and that men of the highest standing, not only in the legal profession, but in other walks of life, were either actively or passively connected.

POPE BENEDICT XV., WHO DIED TODAY IN ROME

THE LATE POPE BENEDICT

Some of the more aged of the Cardinals were showing signs of great fatigue, due to loss of sleep and mental strains.

Among those who were at the Vatican today, in addition to Cardinal Gasparri, the papal secretary of state, were Cardinal Merry Del Val, the papal chamberlain, Cardinal Gasquet, Cardinal Cannuti, Cardinal Pompili, Cardinal Caggiano, Cardinal Dice, Cardinal Di Bonzo, Cardinal Di Lai, Cardinal Can Ross, Cardinal Sili, and Cardinal Marini.

Candles, which had been blessed, were kept burning in the sanctuary of the private chapel all night.

Between noon and 10 o'clock the doctors admitted that the Pope had not shown any improvement either from nourishment nor sleep.

The Osservatore Romano, official organ of the Vatican, announced that Dr. Battistini, the papal physician, had informed the Pope's official family that even if death were not imminent it was inevitable.

Belief was expressed in Vatican circles that the Pope's successor will be Cardinal Pietro Maffi, Archbishop of Pisa.

The Pontiff had been sinking rapidly for twenty-four hours and only the natural vitality of his wonderful constitution sustained him. During the morning a slight amount of liquid nourishment had been administered. The Pontiff lapsed into semi-consciousness. This gave way to unconsciousness.

It was announced at noon that the patient was in a state of coma, but later it was said that he had been sleeping and had fallen into "deep slumber."

When the holy father fell into slumber the fear arose that he might die in his sleep.

During the morning in a period of consciousness, the Pontiff whispered to those at the bedside: "I feel better."

A fresh crisis followed shortly afterwards.

POPE BENEDICT'S LIFE ONE OF ACHIEVEMENT

A MEMBER OF NOBILITY.
Pope Benedict XV. (Giacomo della Chiesa), supreme head of the Roman Catholic Church with the titles of Pope, Bishop of Rome and Successor to St. Peter, Supreme Pontiff of the Universal Church, Patriarch of the West, Primate of Italy, Archbishop and Metropolitan of the Roman province, Sovereign of the Temporal Possession of the Holy Roman Church, to which position he rose on September 6, 1914, shortly after Europe became involved in the great world war, was born at Pegli, Italy, in the diocese of Genoa, November 21, 1854.

He was the son of the Marchese della Chiesa, a member of the Italian nobility, and his elevation to the throne of St. Peter marked emphatically one more of the remarkable catholicity of the church and its freedom from social distinctions. His origin was in striking contrast to that of his predecessor, Pope Pius X., who was the son of a Venetian peasant, while Pope Benedict XV. came from one of the oldest families of Italian aristocracy.

The Pope was educated at the Capranica College and the Academy of Turin.

PICTORIAL OFFERINGS OF THE BOSTON STAGE AND ELSEWHERE

"ORPHANS OF THE STORM," D. W. Griffith's new creation at the Tremont, combines all the beauty of the costume play with the red-blooded action so essential to a worthwhile moving picture. Here is Rose Smith and Frances Kelly in a scene from the picture.

CARRIE THATCHER, with William Hodge's "Dog Love," at the Plymouth, goes that well-known shoe polish one better—she's "all in one." Instead of "two in one." She plays all parts in the play except Hodge's—nearly so. She's the general understudy—rarely heard of and seen less. A thankless business.

PERFECTLY PROPPER! Little Anna Propp is one of the cuties with the World Frolic Co., due Monday at the Gayety. Baroque quennies work harder than the naughty musical comedy ladies, but, then—they usually get paid more.

A GIRL DE LOOKS! Not often does the daughter of a great tenor, at 20, become a leading lady. She has to overcome the terrible prejudice that one's living on her dad's rep. But Patti Herrald, in "Irene" at the Shubert, is a pleasing exception.

AS AN ATHLETE SHE'S A RINGER! Marjory Ball can boast of lots of things, but she takes greatest pride in the fact that she's president of the "Tip Top" (at the Colonial) Walking Club.

DON'T WEAKEN, AUGUST, ON YOUR WEEK-ENDS—at least not in February! August Schenberger of Jersey City, shown here with his family, flirted with a lady. She had him arrested. Friend who pleaded she needed August's salary. So the judge sentenced him to stand every week-end for 20 weeks in jail.

RUTHY SAYS A MOUTH-FULL! And it's mostly about clothing and fat men. This is strange, for one never associates clothing with Ruth St. Denis. But really, during a visit to the Pacific coast, she showed high boned shoes and Paris fashions something terrible. There's no excuse for fat men, she says, when he can dance.

(International.)

BE PATIENT! The work of returning the Pretty Motorist pictures takes time. Today's winner in the test is Miss Anna Erophy, 14 Randolph St., Worcester. She will receive a check for $5 by mail. This test will probably run about a week longer—then watch for a new test! You're going to get a surprise!

THIS NEW DEVICE BEATS the Stamp of Approval! Boston may soon see this new stamp vending machine which gives you the full value for the money. No profit is made as with the old devices. This one has just been installed in N. Y. city. Just drop in your coin and pull a lever.

(International.)

WONDER IF THIS PAIR HAS UNION CARDS? Primitive methods and devices have a romance with their own, and even in Japan, that nation so eager to accept Western civilization, many of the old methods still prevail. This picture, taken recently at Shikoku, Japan, shows a Japanese and his wife harrowing their rice field. The husband is drawing the harrow and the wife guides it. Rice culture necessitates working in mud and water, so perhaps this device is best suited to his needs.

NOT MANY LEFT! Referring, of course, to the habit! The conservative still cling to the side saddle habit. Most folks have the astride habit. But this gray whipcord outfit is one of the most fashionable of the season. These are rarely seen in the West.

(International.)

SENATOR HARRY S. NEW of Indiana, who is being urged, according to Washington gossip, to accept the Postmaster-Generalship to succeed Will Hays, now more power. Many want him to stay in the Senate.

(International.)

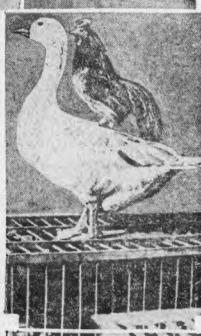

LIGHT AS A FEATHER! Improper clothing and too much clothes are responsible for much of the disfigurement of our modern women, says Olive Ann Aikens of Chicago, who believes that few clothes can be worn with modesty. Here's Ann living up to her beliefs.

(International.)

THE SANDWICH LADY! This recently invented machine makes sandwiches with absolute cleanliness and speed. Ideal for lunchrooms or where it is necessary to make large numbers of sandwiches. It pumps and measures peanut butter, jelly, chopped ham and other foods of this nature accurately and smoothly. The one shown above is a small model. Hand operated, for the home or small cafe. Large electric models can be used for big restaurants.

(Underwood.)

FRIENDSHIP is a Marvelous Thing! This little brown rooster and white goose became such bosom pals that the owner of a large poultry market in Washington, D. C., was loath to sell, kill or part with them.

DEBATE SQUAD CITRUS CROP OF SELECTED CALIFORNIA WELLESLEY BY COLD

Teams for the Intercollegiate Contest to Be Picked From Field of 18

The squad of eighteen young women at Wellesley College which will work on material for the intercollegiate debate contest to be held in the field of 18 teams, was announced today.

The list consists of the Misses Emma Yaux, Bess, 23; Eleanor Brown, 24; Elizabeth Bostwick, 24; Catherine Cooke, 23; Marion Cooper, 23; Patricia Crawford, of Wellesley, 23; Janet Crowder, of Alton, 23; Rose Havel, 23; Alice Dunham, 22; Cornelia Evans, 23; Martha Hanna, 22; Dorothy Macomber, 23; Marion Ferris, president of the debating club, 22; Muriel Lewis, 24; Dorothy Henninger, 24; Elizabeth Sanford, 23; Rhonda Schuchter, 23; Sara Thompson, 24.

The selection of the actual six will be made sometime next week. Word has been received from the secretary of the Intercollegiate Debating League that the opportunity of Wellesley this year will be Rockefeller and Mount Holyoke. This means that Wellesley will have had to win to retain the title which she won last year. When both the affirmative and negative Wellesley teams were victorious. Miss Emma Yaux, Bess, 23, treasurer of the Wellesley team, will go to New York today to confer with the Harvard team. While there she will speak at an open meeting of the Rockefeller Wellesley Club and a member of the Wellesley team, "What Wellesley College Means to the Undergraduate." Miss Bell is also the student chairman of the work of the Woodrow Wilson Foundation and reports that the subscription in the college have been numerous this year.

GROWERS SUFFER HEAVY LOSS AND SHIPMENTS WILL BE CURTAILED

By Associated Press.

San Francisco, Jan. 21.—Central and southern California residents, chilled by two days of cold, awoke to a warmer temperature this morning. Nevertheless, the marks of 24 and 25, effective throughout most of the city, are growing districts, have been sufficient to cause heavy loss to the citrus growers in many sections are arising meetings at which steps can be taken to prevent frost-damaged fruit from reaching the market.

Orange shipments from San Francisco were delayed last night by the growers' organization at that point, and county authorities are expected to issue formal orders today at all at which might have been shipped to be inspected before shipment.

PRODUCERS PUT MILK BOYCOTT ON WHITINGS

Following refusal on the part of the Whiting milk interests to concur in the agreement reached between the New England Milk Producers' Association and the Big Boston milk distributing companies, the producers have refused, beginning today, to supply milk to the Whiting. The Whiting interests, which include Whiting & Sons, the C. Brigham Milk Company and the Elm Farm Milk Company, will not be affected by the cut in the supply until Monday, at which time they have offered a counter proposal to the producers.

SIMON SWIG'S HOME SOLD FOR $20,500

The big brick mansion at No. 133 North Street, Boston, property of Simon Swig, president of the closed Trust Company, was sold today at auction for $20,500 to Robert R. Burns of New York. The building is assessed at $22,200. The sale was made by the agents of Swig's estate, who said they had been unable to purchase the place, and that the sale was made for $20,500.

BETTY ALDEN'S COMMENT ON SOCIETY

Back Bay Women Have Big Share in Red Cross Drive

By BETTY ALDEN.

ONE HUNDRED THOUSAND dollars are being raised by the Red Cross Donations Committee this month. Every penny of the money received in this campaign will go toward Home Service for disabled veterans and their dependents—not a cent will be used for administrative purposes.

Home Service means the effecting of an alliance between the disabled men and the government agencies; the furnishing of legal advice through the Legal Aid Society; the supplying of qualified guardians for mentally disabled men; assistance in funds and clothes when necessary; looking after payments of rent in cases of dire necessity; and also safeguarding the funds of men not able to act for themselves.

Here is a chance to help the Red Cross do something for the men, who gave, not their lives—but their health—in the World War. The troubles of the men who went West are over now, but those living on, crippled, blinded, shell-shocked and broken down—for them, their troubles are just beginning.

Headquarters for the Donations Committee are at No. 148 Devonshire street, and all checks may be made payable to the Red Cross Donations Committee. Miss Dorothy Forbes of Milton, whose wonderful altruistic work is known not only to her society friends, is joint chairman of this committee with James Jackson. Also on this committee are a group of seventy prominent bankers, as well as another group of forty men engaged in commercial lines.

Also a part of this large donations committee is the Women's Back Bay committee, headed by Mrs. Richard M. Salmon of Bay State road, and composed of other matrons and young women whose names are included in the "first family" contingent.

Prominent among the younger people in this work is Miss Hope Gaston, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Gaston of Bay State road. Miss Gaston, who is a member of the 1919-20 Sewing Circle, was on the junior hostess committee for the Army and Navy ball given this week by the Community Service Association of Boston. The ball, held at the Copley Plaza, was well patronized by the smart set, many of whom are doing regular work for the Community Service and for the Army and Navy Club, which is a part of it.

Other members of this Back Bay Women's Committee are Mesdames James Cunningham Gray, James Newell, Cora Colman Elfr, Harriet Amory, Edward Holmes, Barker, Thayer, Devereux Barker, Francis C. Gray, James Jackson, Jr., Henry P. King, J. Converse Gray, as well as the Mesdames Evans, Lavinia Newell, Margaret Curtis, Louisa Hennessey, Margaret Winslow and Mary Sawyer. The major portion of the women named above figured prominently in Red Cross work during the war, and as such, their experience is invaluable to the donations committee.

I was highly interested to learn that society matrons and maids of New York will take over the management of the Hotel Baltimore for one day, February 28, which of course, brings up the memories of November 16, when Boston's Copley-Plaza was managed entirely for one day by women of prominence in the social and civic world.

Gotham's similar affair, which will have to "go some" to rival that of a Woman's Day—is to be given in aid of the Society for the Prevention and Relief of Tuberculosis, Incorporated. I understand that no less than three thousand women will work in various departments of the large hotel, all but the kitchen to be taken over for the day by the society workers. Debutantes and their mothers will preside at the desks, registering and checking guests. Besides reigning over the cigar booth and flower stands, they will be armed as waitresses. In addition, special features will be offered, including musicals, a bazaar, a fashion show and a midnight frolic.

Random Notes of Society Folk in Town and Country

MISS HOPE GASTON OF Bay State road and Mrs. George S. Blake, also of Boston, are the guests in Palm Beach of Mr. and Mrs. John Curtis of Spruce street, who are wintering at their villa, Ocean View.

Miss Amy Lowell of Brookline has arrived in New York, where she is stopping at the Hotel Belmont.

The engagement of Mrs. Helen Ford Munford, widow of Dr. James C. Munford, to Richard Henry Dunn, a graduate of Harvard of 1914, is a widow, his wife, the former Edith Longfellow, passed daughter of the great poet, having died some years ago. Mrs. Munford has been actively interested in the work for devastated France. The marriage will take place in Emmanuel Church some time next month. Soon afterward the couple will sail for Italy.

Mrs. Nathaniel S. Simpkins of Twenty Farms has arrived at the Kingswood Inn, Camden, S. C., where a number of Boston society folk are spending a part of the cold season.

W. D. Schler, Jr., of Boston is spending a few days at the Everglades Club in Palm Beach. John S. Curtis, Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Alth and Harmon Doty, all of Boston, who are wintering at Palm Beach, have started together on a fishing cruise along the Keys.

WOMAN SUES COMPANY FOR TRUCK INJURIES

Providence, Jan. 21.—The Providence Textile Company was made defendant in two suits filed in the Superior Court of Rhode Island for loss of services and expenses incidental to the treatment of her daughter, Anna E. Tolan, and also as next friend of her daughter, who was injured while crossing from the west side of Branch street to the east side of North Main street, on November 28, 1921, knocked down by a truck owned by the textile company. Mrs. Tolan sues to recover $12,500 for her daughter's injuries and $5,000 for the loss of her daughter's services and for medical and medical care in the treatment of her daughter's injuries.

WIFE WORRIES OVER MISSING HUSBAND

Worcester, Jan. 21.—Mrs. Frank Cummings, 26, 25 Shattuck street, is waiting at home with her seven children for some word about her husband, who she suspects, has not been home since Monday. Friends of the woman tell her he has gone to visit some relatives but she refuses to believe this, saying that if it were so he would have arranged to have some one take care of the hotel room at No. 154 Shattuck street, which he failed to do.

MRS. NEVINS ON $1,000 BOND FOR VICIOUS "JOE"

Lawrence, Jan. 21.—Mrs. David Nevins of Methuen, in whose case "Joe," a vicious hound in the City Department will be placed, has signed an agreement drawn by Mayor Edwin W. Mahoney on behalf of the city. In it she agrees herself liable to $1,000 as a safeguard for the city against future trouble, and promises not to transfer or sell the hound.

"Joe" will be removed from Eugene's house early next week. He is to be quarantined in Mrs. Nevins' private stable under the care of a Boston horse man. Doghouse made under a receipt granted by the City Council which had ordered the hound to be killed.

EVANGELIST POWELL IN EAST BOSTON TOMORROW

Rev. Felix Powell, noted evangelist, will appear in three meetings tomorrow at the Union Methodist Church, Methuen, according to an announcement issued by Charles C. Garland, pastor. The special evangelistic meetings will be held at 7:30, 8:30 and 9:30 in the afternoon and evening. Rev. Powell is also a vocalist and pianist of note.

LAWRENCE MAN SOUGHT BY MOTHER

Mrs. Martin Marzor Nearly Prostrated by Absence of Son; Was in New Hampshire

Lawrence, Jan. 21.—Hilar broken and on the verge of collapse because of the continued absence of her son, Mrs. Martin Marzor nearly prostrated by the absence of her son, Mrs. Martin Marzor nearly prostrated by the absence of her son, Mrs. Martin Marzor nearly prostrated by the absence of her son.

By trade, left home July 24 last, saying that he was going in search of work. About a month later he sent a card, post marked Vermont, N. H., bearing the brief message that he was well and safe, since then his folks have heard nothing from him.

Martin Marzor, father of the missing man, is an invalid and day after day by his other three younger children for support. Joseph Marzor, who has been a hard working and industrious young man, had been the main support of the family.

Mrs. Marzor is nearly worn out searching for her boy. The family funds are low but Mrs. Marzor is ready to pay a reward for information which will lead to the finding of her son. He is about five feet six inches tall, weighs about 150 pounds, has a medium complexion and wears his hair in pompadour style.

ALL-COLLEGE CARNIVAL POSTPONED TO DECEMBER

The all college carnival planned by the Women Graduate Club of Boston University, to be held the week of February 7, in Mechanics Hall, has been postponed to the early part of December, 1922. It was found that the desire of the colleges throughout the country to participate was so general as to require to have postponed the original scheme, and to demand more work, than was possible in the time first specified.

CHOCOLATE

PATENTS PENDING AND TRADE MARK REGISTERED

A TEMPTING, tasty slice of Hood's Old-Fashioned Ice Cream—with the flavor there—covered with a rich coating of Special Milk Chocolate—and wrapped in sanitary glassine envelopes.

What a refreshing sensation it is—to let your teeth sink into this luscious ice cream confection.

Cool as the icebergs of the Arctic! Delicious and satisfying—any hour of the day—a treat for kiddies and grown-ups alike.
